NEW-YEAR'S VERSES.

In the New's Boy's "Complimentary Poem," addressed to the Patrons of the Balance, and all good Federalists in the state of New-York we find the following elegant lines:

IF ye the hist'ry of the year relate,
We should begin it—then give day and date.
Well, we'll begin:—All hail! ye Fed'ral Host!

The world's last hope; Columbia's pride and boast;
Friends of your country's rights and equal laws;

The props upholding of the Fed'ral cause;
The salt, the saviours of fair Freedom's land; The season's heart stuff in the whist' oak bark;

Whose ready hand supports the BALANCE high;
Who count the weights with fair, impartial eye;

Who write the Mene Tekel on the walls Of fort-democracy—and down it falls:
Permit your news-boy, in his humble verse, To trace the year—its incidents rehearse.

First, let our Muse wing o'er th' Atlantic flood.

Where ship wreck'd nations float on seas of blood;
See Europe's kingdoms in one ruin hurl'd, And hear the groans of an expiring world.

There lies great Austria, prostrate, overthrown;
That wreck was Sweden, once; now scarcely known.

See, there, great Russia, like a moving isle, Floats but a day to save the conqueror's spoil Denmark is sinking in the whelming waves; Her struggling crew the wreck a moment saves.

Spain lies, beam-ends; her crew the wreck deplores;
Some lash to hammocks—some attempt the shore.

There, Portugal, buoy'd up on either side, Dismasted boats, upon the threat'ning tide.
Loud roars the tempest, and each rolling wave,

Whelms down a kingdom, to its awful grave.
E'en Britain's Isles, dash'd by the surging flood,

Shake on their basis: while the spray of blood
Lashes the stars—loud bellowing thunders roll

And rock the tott'ring world from pole to pole.
Heaven weeps—The raging, unchain'd hosts of hell

Join shouts with Frenchmen, in approving yell;
Their Belzebub, out-sinn'd, they all disown, And hail'd the Coriscan to fill the throne.

From such dread scenes, round Europe's frigid strand,
The shudd'ring Muse darts to her native land Pensive she perches on the quiv'ring spire Of Freedom's dome, there strikes her mournful lyre:

Weeps as she sings how that dread tempest roars, Which rolls o'er Europe—murmurs on our shores.

"Awake!" she sings, "Columbia's sons arise;
Attend the voice which speaks from yon dark skies;

"Learn Heaven's behest from Freedom's favorite son,
The great, the good, th' immortal WASH-INGTON."

See! on convolving clouds the Hero stand!
He waves a glorious sceptre in his hand:

"Awake!" the spirit cries, "awake—awake!
Sleep now is death: for your great father's sake,

"Rise in your might; maintain the noble cause
Of freedom—justice—peace, & equal laws.
Grieve not all Heaven; nor like dastards yield

"The blood bought boon secur'd in battles field.
Support the banners which our hands unfurled;

"Cloud not the stars which light the darken'd world Freedom's last standard's planted on your shore;

"And should that standard fall, 'twill rise no more."

Yea! said the spirit, "let our Muse rehearse
The countless wrongs that stain our
shores;
No longer let your cause to Spain be true—Till she be free—then, the arm of freedom,
Let us march: to Spain! to Spain!
To Spain! to Spain! to Spain!

"Hail, waves, new, dogs the westwind Good!
The all-devouring storm o'er Europe roars, And loudly murmurs round Columbia's shores,

"Hurl from the helm the timid, treacherous host,
Hurl, hurl, then quick, or all will soon be lost.

"No longer slumbering in inglorious ease, Lulled by the siren of 'Freedom of the Seas.'"

"Listen no more to base, insidious lies; Nor trust to man's perfectibilities;
'Tis treacherous all—the arm alone of MIGHT

"Will rule the seas; and never yield to RIGHT.

"State policy can ne'er devise a plan To bend th' eternal principles in man: While man is man, for pow'r he'll ever lust:

"To change that passion, change his nature first.
Sons of Columbia! far'rites of the sky!
Awake; preserve your dear bought liberty:

"Awake, your fathers cry; a span remains: Awake! arise! dash off your Coriscan chains."

From the Virginia Patriot.

Democratic Legislation.—Concluded.

During the reading of this paper by Mr.
McCampbell, the house became disorderly so much so that the speaker twice called to order, and Mr. McCampbell once stopped, paused until silence was restored, and resumed the reading by repeating part of what he had read during the noise.

Having finished the reading, Mr. Mc-Campbell observed, "that he agreed in opinion with the member from Nelson (Mr.
Cabell), that there was no necessity to discuss this subject, and that he would for the present content himself with offering the resolution to the house, with the single remark, that the argument they contained was founded upon facts which were incontrovertible, as they were furnished by the documents published by order of congress."

The speaker was, slowly and apparently in a state of embarrassment, preparing, as is the invariable practice, to read them from the chair, when Mr. Peter V. Daniel rose and moved that they should not be so read, but that they should be thrown on the floor. A loud cry of AGREED, AGREED, was heard from all quarters of the house.
The motion of Mr. Daniel was formally seconded by Mr. Stevenson (of the city of Richmond); but neither of them made a single observation or stated any reason whatsoever in support of the motion. It was opposed by Mr. Walker (of Mecklenburg) who, much to his credit, made a few remarks upon the indecorum of the motion, as did general Blackburn.

The speaker, in a feeble, hesitating manner, remarked, that "he thought it his duty to state to the house, that in his opinion the motion was out of order." He then, without having read the resolutions from the chair, or put the question whether the reading should be dispensed with, and, in the belief of some gentlemen, without having announced what question was before the house, suddenly rose and put the question upon the substitute proposed by Mr. Campbell. It was rejected without a division.

The resolution proposed by Mr. Mc-Campbell having been thus disposed of, Mr. Daniel enquired of the chair; whether the journal was to be stained by them?
He was answered by the speaker that he presumed this was of course, as the journal was kept for the purpose of recording the proceedings of the house.

Mr. McCampbell then rose and observed that he was surprised at the course which had been pursued. "It did not comport with the dignity of legislative proceedings or the freedom of debate. This freedom was guaranteed by the constitution and the evil would be much the same, whether the privilege were taken away by an express law or destroyed by the intolerance and proscription of domineering party spirit. He stood there as a representative of a portion of the people, and in the discharge of his duties, while he would never purposely insult the house or the feelings of any of its members, he would exercise the privilege of freely expressing his opinions. The resolutions had been submitted to the house. If they contained any thing incorrect in point of fact or of just inference, the gentlemen ought to have shown it by argument and exposed its fallacy.

Mr. McCampbell was proceeding to aimadvert upon the outrage which had just passed upon his feelings, his rights, and the principles of representative government, when he was stopped by the speaker, with the information, that he was not in order, as he was not speaking to any question before the house! He sat down, and before he, or the gentleman who thought with him, could recover from the surprise into which they had been thrown, by these extraordinary proceedings, the question was put upon the adoption of the substitute proposed by the committee. It was carried without a division. The chair then decided, that the house having adopted the substitute no other question was to be taken, and the subject was finally disposed of.
The house immediately adjourned.

Having presented the above statement of facts, I think it proper to observe, that several of the most respectable members of the majority have decidedly reprobated the motion of Mr. Daniel, as well as the rude noises by which Mr. McCampbell was interrupted. But a majority evinced a disposition to stop at no act of outrage whatever.

The conduct of the Speaker, in putting the question upon Mr. McCampbell's resolutions, without reading them, was a gross violation of parliamentary propriety. It was in consequence of this departure from the usual course of proceeding, that the eyes and noses were not taken. But I have the satisfaction to be informed, that the sentiments contained in the resolutions are participated by the entire body of federal-ists.

The last decision of the Speaker was no less singular. In fact, the resolutions of the committee have not been passed by the house of delegates. They were moved as an amendment, and as such the house adopted them. But it was necessary to put another question: WHETHER THEY SHOULD PASS.

These extraordinary proceedings cannot fail to mortify every friend of republican institutions. They manifest a total disregard for the principles of civil liberty, a spirit of intolerance, furious, savage and unrelenting, restrained by no sentiment of propriety, and capable of the most bloody persecution. The feelings which they excite I will not attempt to pourtray—every man of honor will find a mirror in his own bosom.

NOTE:

It is the usual custom in the house of delegates of Virginia, to stop any member, who attempts to utter disagreeable remarks, by making strange noises! In this way he deficiency of ability to answer forcible arguments is supplied!!!

Since the above was written, the resolutions have been before the senate. Mr.
DANIEL (of Cumberland) moved to strike out the word "perfidiously" from the first paragraph, and offered a few arguments conclusively proving that it was not competent for the government of this country to say, that the government of Great-Britain in disavowing Mr. Erskine's act, had been guilty of perjury. The motion did not obtain—Ayes 9.—Noes 12.

The passage of the resolution was opposed by Mr. BODAL, who exposed with much ability their impropriety and challenged any of the majority to defend by argument the ground they had taken. This challenge the champions of democracy did not think it prudent to accept. The resolutions finally passed with some inconsiderable amendments, which have since been agreed to by the house.

Another amendment proposed by Mr.
Daniel was to strike out the word "deemed" from the last paragraph. He urged the impropriety of pledging the general assembly to support all the measures of administration, whatever opinion they

NORFOLK, Feb. 26.

We have been favored by captain Bayton with Lisbon papers to the 4th of January, which contain London intelligence to the twentieth of December, at which date the rupture between our government and Mr.
Jackson had not been publicly announced.
The London paper of the 20th December says "letters from Boston to the 17th of November say that the discussions between our minister Mr. Jackson, and the American government are suspended, on account of the indisposition of Mr. Smith, the American secretary of state; they will not it is said be resumed until the meeting of Congress, on the 27th of that month." A letter from Flushing of the 13th Dec.

says "All the troops except the rear guard had embarked the Monday preceding. The next day the Mole was destroyed, and all the fortifications, dock-yards and arsenals blown up, and what cost the French 15 years labor was destroyed in one day. The enemy could perceive the destruction from Cadix and South Beveland.

The Gazettes announce officially the capture of five or six national corvettes, bound from different ports in France to Gunda-loup.

The emperor of Austria entered his capital on the 20th of November, amidst the most enthusiastic acclamations of the people; there were illuminations for 2 nights; the archduke Charles was expected the next week. There remained in Vienna 10,700 sick and wounded French soldiers, who could not be removed.

The brave Lyons had not submitted as late as the 20th of November, as appears by articles under the head of Munich and Vienna. Two regiments of dragoons, one British and one German, were to leave Portsmouth with the first fair wind for Lisbon. A division of the conscripts passed the Pyrenees on the last of November, it was composed of 30,000 men, and was to form an army of reserve to the French armies in Spain, and remain at Victoria in Basque.

Advices from St. Petersburg to the 13th of November, announce that the Russian army in Moldavia, had defeated that of the Grand Vizier, with the loss of 16 pieces of artillery and 12 standards.

From the general complexion of the Lisbon papers, it does not appear that there is any thing like despondency, on the contrary the most active preparations were making in Spain and Portugal for resistance.
The first requisition of the inhabitants of Portugal, were ordered out, to join the army.

Arrived, brig Juno, Greenleaf, 9 weeks from Cadiz Jan. 26, in lat. 35, long. 69, fell in with the brig Hannah, of and from New Haven, 14 days out, bound to the West Indies, loaded with provisions and cattle, in distress. Jan. 20, a sea broke over the stern of the Hannah which washed overboard capt. Elisha Atwater, Thomas, mate and Benjamin Smith, steaman; in half an hour a second sea broke over the brig which carried away the deck load, Henry Welham, steaman, boats, quarter boards, &c. and broke two of the crew's arms. The survivors begged capt. Greenleaf to take them off, or put a navigator on board to conduct them to the first port.
Capt. G. put William Porter, his second mate on board, and requested him to make the first southern port in the United States, or St. Bartholomews. Spok Jan. 26, in lat. 35, 49, long. 61, 30, schr. Jones, 6 days from Norfolk bound to St. Marks.
Feb. 18, in lat. 35, 17, long. 75, ship Messenger, of and from Salem, bound to Savannah, out 15 days.

Sch'r Caroline, Bayton, 48 days from Lisbon. Left there Jan. 26, ships Thoma-mas, Harper, of and for Alexandria, not discharged; Ticonir, Rendout, of Boston, for New York in 4 days; U. States, Girland, of and for Philadelphia, not discharged; Ann, Bradford, of Charleston, destination not known; Maria, Henderson, Charleston, at quarantine; John & Edward, New-York, captured by the French, and retaken by the British;
Friendship, Hall, Baltimore, for Cadiz; Harville, Long, do. not discharged; Matle, of New York, was at St. Ubes bound to Liverpool.

Translated from Lisbon papers, received by the sch'r. Caroline, capt. Bayton.

SEVILLE, December 15.

I have not been able to answer your letter as early as I wished, for I have been dangerously ill, and almost at the point of death, in consequence of the fatigue of my last expedition; I am mending tho' slowly, and am unable to write much.

Our situation here grows worse daily, the whole province is nearly in the hands of the enemy. I keep up my communications as far as I am able, but I cannot answer for their safety. My orders are not obeyed two leagues beyond the walls of this place—our military chest is empty, our stores almost exhausted, and provisions so scarce and difficult to be had, that a fowl for the sick, has at times, been with difficulty procured. Our situation is discouraging in every view, and notwithstanding all I have done, and procured to be done, the result I assure you is extremely doubtful.

Farewell, &c. &c.

TIEBAULT.

BADAJOS, December 26.

The head quarters of the British army under the command of lord Wellington, marched from this place to-day, to be fixed it is supposed at Almeida and Ciudad Rodrigo.

LISBON, January 1.

It is affirmed for a fact, by a person who has had an opportunity of being in the office of general Belliard, and seen the official returns, that since the first invasion of the Peninsula, 672,000 men have been sent into it. By deducting the number marched back to France, and the present French army in Spain, we can arrive at the knowledge of their loss.

January 4.

The following intercepted letter, published in the Seville Gazette of the 20th of last month, by order of the Spanish government, will prove the precarious tenure by which the enemy hold some posts in old Castile, and exhibits a specimen of the confidence which is to be placed in the foreign troops incorporated in Bonaparte's legions.

Fortress of Panecorro, Nov. 12, 1809.

The lieutenant commander of artillery at the fortress of Panecorra to the general commander in chief of artillery.

GENERAL—

All the prisoners of state arrested in this province made their escape last night. Upon examination my suspicions fall on all the guard. The officer of the patrol has deserted, and the sergeant convicted of being an accomplice. In fine, general, I cannot place any confidence in the men composing this garrison, who are chiefly Prussians, and if they are not withdrawn, and French soldiers sent in their place, I am confident they will deliver the place to the Spaniards. I am under the necessity of making the artillerymen mount guard in the most exposed parts of the garrison.

I have the honor, &c.

SATURDAY, MARCH 3.

The following observations are made in a French paper, in a critique upon a new farce, called There are no more Children—and we are sorry to say that they are quite as applicable here as they are in France. London Paper. [And perhaps not less so in America than they are in England.]

"There are no more Children!"—This assertion is, unfortunately too true.—Children now treat their parents, their relatives, their masters, with contempt; great reasoners before they have attained the age of reason; learned doctors before they have acquired any knowledge; great libertines before they have attained the age of corruption: they have all the vices of that society of which they are not yet members—Childhood has lost its Character and all its amiable qualities. Licentiousness, pride, and boldness, have succeeded mildness, timidity, and innocence.—Childhood is as it were cut off from human life, just as the spring has been cut off from the year. The life of man is composed of two seasons—he commences it by summer and his Autumn is a winter. We have overturned every thing; want the fruit before the blossom. It is the modern practice to put children into hot beds. Every thing is forward, premature, and forced, and nothing comes to perfection. Prodiges at 12 year old are fools at 30."

Important Discovery.—An intelligent and respectable correspondent, says the New-York Commercial Advertiser, informs us, that there has lately been found in the northern part of this state, a singular kind of clay, which by the heat of fire, is converted into pure, fine, transparent glass. The peculiar properties of this clay were thus accidentally discovered. Last summer, while Mr. George Scriba was building a grist mill at Rotterdam, on the Onondaga Lake, in digging a canal for the flume, the workmen came to a bed of clay; of which, however, no notice was then taken. In the month of November, a stove was put up in the mill, for the benefit of the men who were employed in finishing the interior of the building. Finding the house soon filled with smoke, the workmen applied this clay to the crevices of the stove and pipe. In the course of a few hours, the clay had disappeared; and on examining the inside of the stove, they found that the clay had been converted into fine and pure glass. Since that discovery, several experiments have been made, to ascertain the quality of this new kind of earth. Two letters have been received briefly stating the result.

One of them says—"The melted clay, as it was poured out of the crucible, appeared of the consistence of molasses: and when it had cooled, it proved to be clear and beautiful glass, of a green tinge, and so strong that it was with some difficulty broken with the hand."

The other letter says—"I prepared a letter furnace, before a blacksmith's bellows and blew one hour, when I found the clay well melted, and in a fluid state, so that it run out of the crucible in strings as thick as a straw, and produced a solid glass, which could be thus drawn from three to four feet long."

As this is an entire new discovery, it will doubtless receive the attention of the chymists and mineralogists of our country.

Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 2.

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

Mr. McKim, after observing that the collector of Baltimore had sunk money in performing the duties of his office for the last two years, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the secretary of the treasury be directed to lay before this house such information as he may be possessed of, respecting the emoluments and expenditure of the collector of the port of Baltimore, in the years 1808 and 9, in the discharge of the duties of his office. Adopted.

Mr. Johnson, from the committee of claims, made report on sundry claims referred to that committee. The reports were uniformly unfavorable.

On motion of Mr. Morrow the message received from the president of the United States yesterday, covering a treaty with sundry Indian nations, was referred to the committee of ways and means.

A report from the post master general was received and ordered to be printed.

The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the report of the committee of claims on the petition of Elizabeth Hamilton. The report is unfavorable to the petitioner.

Mr. Root advocated a concurrence in the report. He hinted that improper influence had been used to force this claim through the house. He was called to order by Mr. Johnson. The chairman decided that he might explain; he did so—and proceeded. He declared that Mrs. Hamilton had not a color of claim. He said that the commutation was forced upon the old congress, by the officers combining and threatening to resign, and therefore that no one ought to have commutation but those who came within the letter of the resolution of the old congress.

Mr. Newsum ably advocated the claim, and noticed in a proper manner the aspersion thrown out by Mr. Root on the characters of the officers of the revolutionary army.

Mr. Varnum spoke a few words against the claim, and attempted to prove that Colonel Hamilton retired before the conclusion of the war, from the service, and was not therefore entitled to computation.

Mr. Taylor spoke in favor of the claim.

Mr. Boyd was against the claim.

Mr. Montgomery was also against the claim—he used the same arguments and almost the same words he did on this subject last Friday.

A message was received from the Senate informing the house they had passed a bill for the encouragement of Torpedoes, in which they requested the concurrence of this house.

On the question will the committee concur in the report of the committee of claims, it was decided in the negative—Ayes 52—Noes 60.

The committee then rose and reported their disagreement to the report of the committee of claims. The house immediately took up the report of the committee of the whole, and on a motion to concur, the question was taken by ayes and noes and were Yeas 62—Nays 52.

Mr. Nelson moved the following resolution: Resolved, That the petition of Elizabeth Hamilton ought to be granted and that the committee of claims be directed to bring in a bill pursuant thereto. The resolution was withdrawn.

Mr. Ghelson moved the following—Resolved, That the committee of claims be instructed to prepare and bring in a bill pursuant to the prayer of the petition of Elizabeth Hamilton. On the question of agreeing to this resolution the ayes were 61—Noes 46.

The house adjourned till Monday next.

necessarily consumed in the preparation of his house, respectfully announces to the citizens of Alexandria, as well as the term of years that noted and eligible establishment known by the name of the CITY HOTEL, and once occupied by Mr Gadsby, whose distinguished abilities as a Publican gave it an eclat which the subscriber hopes to preserve by his unremitting exertions in affording to all those who may confer on him the favor of their patronage, genteel and comfortable accommodations. The subscriber deems it unnecessary to indicate the multiplicity of conveniences attached to the City Hotel, and will only submit a description to rally attested its numerous advantages.

Pinkerton's Collection of Voy- ages and Travels.

Forming a complete History of the Origin and Progress of Discovery by Sea and Land, from the most authentic Sources.

THE first number of this valuable Work is just come to hand and is ready for inspection at the store of the subscribers, in King-street, and with Mr. Triplett, at the coffee-house.

Fully aware of the impositions that have been practised upon the public by strangers soliciting subscriptions from distant places; the Editors invite their examination of a Work, perhaps the most useful, entertaining, as well as extensive in its kind that has ever been undertaken in any country. And they flatter themselves that the American will by no means shrink from a comparison with the London edition, tho' offered at six dollars per Vol. less.

This number may be considered as a fair specimen of the execution of the work, and will be left a short time for examination, before the 2d number is put to press. After this the subscription will be raised to $2 25 each number; and but a few more copies printed, than are sufficient to supply the subscribers, that the early patrons of this valuable Work may have a decided advantage—subsequent applications may therefore come too late.

It is also the intention of the Editor to Jannary to the last number a complete list of names of the subscribers, as the patrons and encouragers of useful knowledge, the arts and literature of the United States.

Subscriptions are received by the subscribers.
